

SOLID DELEGATION FOR JOHN A. JOHNSON

Minnesota Delegation to Denver Instructed for Him.

PUT UP A GAME STRUGGLE

But Bryan Men Were Hopelessly Out-numbered and Could Not Even Obtain a Declaration in Favor of Their Favorite for Second Choice.

St. Paul, May 15.—The Democrats of Minnesota formally endorsed Governor John A. Johnson as a presidential candidate and at the same time by a vote of 772 to 166 refused to declare in favor of William J. Bryan as a second choice.

The followers of Mr. Bryan did not carry out the threat which they had so often made during the past few days—that they would bolt and hold a rump convention if their contests were defeated before the committee on credentials, or if they were not able to secure a partial endorsement of their leader. They made a sturdy fight for their man and when they had been overwhelmingly defeated remained quietly in their seats and made no motion to leave. Several days ago they had gone to the length of leasing a hall two squares from the Auditorium, in which the convention was held, for the purpose of endorsing Bryan and naming a contesting delegation to Denver. The hall was ready for them, but none of them went near it.

The Johnson men were generous in their victory and declared in their platform that while they entertained "an affection for, and confidence in the integrity and ability of William that he would consider the minority report as an amendment, and the defeat of the Bryan faction came about on the motion to substitute the minority report for that of the majority.

The fight at times waxed warm while the debate on the platform was in progress, but there was nothing approaching disorder at any time. C. E. Vasaly, the Bryan orator who made the leading speech for his side, was, after he had spoken at considerable length cordially invited by a weary Johnson delegate to "shut up," and when a moment later he addressed the convention as "my friends" he was informed that he had talked so long that he "had no friends," but beyond this there were no unpleasant remarks offered on either side.

Leaving all political questions aside the convention was throughout a flattering tribute to Governor Johnson. The enthusiasm for him was unbounded and sincere. Every mention of his name was instantly followed by a wild yell of delight, and the final adoption of the platform formally endorsing him and instructing Minnesota to fight for him at Denver was followed by a demonstration of enthusiastic loyalty of which any man might feel proud.

The convention was called to order by Frank A. Day, chairman of the state central committee. Immediately after doing this he made a short address, saying among other things:

"We Democrats of Minnesota have just pulled off one of the prettiest scraps in recent political history and I want to say for the majority that there has been nothing said that we need to recall, no deprecatory expression concerning William J. Bryan."

Loud cheers greeted the mention of Bryan's name, but this was utterly dwarfed an instant later when he declared that a prominent Democrat of Minnesota had in Washington given out through the Associated Press a statement calculated to injure John A. Johnson. A terrific yell followed the mention of Johnson's name and the uproar continued for some time. Chairman Day then alluded to certain statements derogatory to Governor Johnson made by certain followers of Mr. Bryan, declaring them to be unfounded calumnies. He mentioned James Manahan of St. Paul as the instigator of some of these stories. He mentioned certain other Bryanites as having been co-laborers of Mr. Manahan in this respect and then closed his address by advising the delegates to conduct their affairs with fairness and good humor.

State Senator S. D. Works of Mankato was nominated for temporary chairman without opposition and he was unanimously chosen. Senator Works made a short address on taking the chair, predicting a brilliant political triumph next fall if the Democrats of the country nominated Governor Johnson at Denver in July.

A motion that each judicial district name its members of the committees on rules, resolutions and credentials was adopted and a recess was taken to allow the districts to caucus and make their selections.

Appoints Committee Chairmen.

After the formation of the three committees and the announcement of the lists of members by the secretary Chairman Works appointed as chairman of the committee on resolutions T. D. O'Brien of St. Paul, on rules and permanent organization H. F. Weiss of Le Sueur county, on credentials J. C. Armonson of Stillwater.

A recess was then taken. The committee on credentials was not ready to report when the convention met for the afternoon session. Only five contests had been taken up, those of Cottonwood, Hennepin, Fillmore, Itasca and Waseca. The Cottonwood delegation was divided half and half between the Johnson and Bryan factions. Itasca was given to Bryan and the others to Johnson.

The report of the credentials committee in conformity with the foregoing was then read to the convention and adopted without a negative vote.

The committee on organization recommended that the temporary officers of the convention be made permanent and this was done unanimously.

The resolutions affirm allegiance to the principles of the party of Jefferson and Jackson; commend the state administration; demand tariff revision; favor strict supervision and control of great industrial enterprises and public service corporations and on the question of state rights the platform says:

"We believe that the powers ceded to the federal government by the states through the Constitution in its present form are ample. Notwithstanding the closer relations between the people which improved transportation facilities have established a too great centralization of power is as dangerous now as when the Constitution was framed. The powers reserved to the states are necessary to enable each to manage its domestic and internal affairs; to preserve the American principle of home rule; to prevent the exercise of autocratic power by federal officers and to maintain between the states a generous rivalry as to which can best present a system of wise laws and efficient administration."

Dangers Already Apparent.

"The dangers to be apprehended from centralization of power are already apparent, for under autocratic leadership congress has become inactive and no longer responds to the public will, while a bureaucratic form of government is being rapidly extended to a point which threatens the extinction of state autonomy."

The endorsement of Governor John A. Johnson for president was couched in the following language:

"In Governor John A. Johnson Minnesota presents to the nation a Democratic candidate for president of ability, integrity and honor, a constructive statesman, who holds no brief from any class; one who from early youth has been a wage earner, whose private life has been of such purity, vigor and earnestness as to win him the love and respect of all who know him. In public life he has by his high sense of duty, impartiality and devotion to civic virtue won the admiration of all the people of his state, regardless of condition in life or political faith."

"We, therefore, instruct our delegates to the national Democratic convention to vote as a unit for and continue to so vote as long as necessary to secure the nomination of Hon. John A. Johnson as the candidate for president."

The following delegates and alternates at large were chosen:

Delegates at large—W. S. Hammond, St. James; Frank A. Day, Fairmont; F. G. Winslow, Minneapolis; Swan Turnblad, Minneapolis; Daniel W. Lawler, St. Paul; T. D. O'Brien, St. Paul; Martin O'Brien, Crookston; A. C. Weiss, Duluth.

Alternates at large—J. E. Vanstrom, Yellow Medicine county; J. R. Conway, Becker; S. P. Nelson, Rock; John Morgan, Red Lake; Peter McCoy, Hennepin; Milo White, Jr., Fillmore; W. A. Burnett, Hubbard; Daniel Aberle, Ramsey.

HAVOC TO DISCIPLINE.

Wrought by Entertainment to Fleet's Officers and Men.

San Francisco, May 15.—San Francisco's entertainment of the Atlantic fleet is drawing to a close and the ships will set sail for Puget Sound Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The three days of steaming at sea are looked forward to by the officers with genuine pleasure as a relief from the arduous social duties that recently have been imposed upon them. The fleet has been in home waters one month and during all that time there have been but two evenings of quiet and rest for officers and men afforded by night steaming.

A solid month of banquets, balls, receptions, parades, luncheons and other entertainments, while wonderfully expressive of California's hospitality and joy over the coming of the battleship squadrons, has wrought havoc to discipline and efficiency aboard the vessels of the Atlantic fleet. Executive officers, who in plain language are the active masters of the various ships, are complaining of conditions aboard and declare that much of the splendid efficiency attained during the long cruise has been almost wiped out by the relaxation that set in with the conclusion of the long line of entertainments.

Convicted Man a Suicide.

Baltimore, May 15.—When he finally succeeded in effecting an entrance to the barricaded residence of John W. H. Geiger, for whose arrest and incarceration in jail he had an order of the United States district court, United States Marshal Langhammer found Geiger dead, he having shot himself. Geiger, a bank cashier, was convicted of the misuse of a bank's funds and sentenced to five years in jail.

PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Vreeland Currency Measure Favorably Acted Upon.

VOTED WITH THE DEMOCRATS

Fifteen So-Called Insurgents of the Majority Joined the Minority, Who Went on Record Solidly Against the Bill.

Washington, May 15.—The Vreeland currency bill, agreed upon by the Republican caucus, was put through the house under a special rule by a vote of 184 to 145. Fifteen so-called insurgents of the majority party voted with the Democrats, who went on record solidly against the measure.

The closing moments of the debate were replete with excitement and Republican enthusiasm caused by the refusal of the great majority of the Democrats to go on record for the Williams bill, which had been offered by Mr. Kahn of California as a substitute for the Vreeland bill in accordance with a well laid plan of the majority leaders to ascertain where the Democrats stood on the proposition, which, it was claimed by several, was supported by Mr. Bryan. Ninety-three Democrats voted "present," which aroused the Republicans to a high state of hilarity at the expense of the minority. Only a handful of Democrats had the temerity to vote, "aye" or "no." The action of Mr. Kahn was due to the refusal of Mr. Williams to present his bill as a substitute, which under the rule he was specifically authorized to do.

As soon as the bill reaches the senate, Mr. Aldrich will call a meeting of the committee on finance to consider it. It is expected the committee will vote unanimously to amend the house measure by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting the provisions of the bill which was passed by the senate. It is not doubted that the senate will approve the action of the committee. The effect of this course would be to send both the Vreeland and the Aldrich bills to conference.

ABOUT THIRTY DEAD.

Two Hundred Others Injured by Southern Tornado.

Shreveport, La., May 15.—Thirty dead and 200 injured is a conservative estimate of the fatalities caused by the tornado which swept through Northwest Louisiana, destroying three small towns and leaving wrecked homes and ruined crops in a path a mile wide and fifty miles long. The dead at Gilliam, which had about 200 inhabitants, number thirteen, while at Bollinger, the known death list is six. These two towns are about thirteen miles apart and nothing has been learned of the work of the storm in the country between. At Elmore, a small town near Gilliam, several houses were destroyed and it is not known how many people perished. Several of the dead were brought to Shreveport on the relief train from Gilliam and the hospitals and sanitariums are crowded with injured, several of whom will die. Only two houses were left standing at Gilliam. The injured at Bollinger number about forty persons. Of these it is believed only three or four will die.

Chicago, May 15.—Eugene V. Debs of Indiana was nominated on the first ballot for president of the United States by the Socialist party national convention.

Benjamin Hanford of New York was nominated by the Socialists for vice president.

Gans Defeats Unholz.

San Francisco, May 15.—Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, added another victim to his long string by defeating Rudolph Unholz, the rugged Boer from South Africa, in the eleventh round. The fight was Gans' all the way through. He systematically beat down Unholz and the referee interfered in the eleventh round as Unholz was then practically knocked out.

SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

Senate Passes Last of the Big Supply Measures.

Washington, May 15.—The great sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying a total of about $120,000,000, was passed by the senate. This is the last of the large supply bills and its passage places the senate squarely alongside the house in the consideration of the appropriation bills and of the entire fourteen leaves only the general deficiency and the military academy bills to be considered by either house. The sundry civil bill was received from the house on May 4, and has been passed. Senator Allison was in charge of the bill and his friends point to his success with the measure as an effective refutation of the report that he is no longer capable of performing the service he has rendered for so many years as the head of the committee on appropriations.

A portion of the session was devoted to the consideration of the bill suspending the penalty feature of the commodity clause of the railroad rate bill.

May 15 In History.

1773—Alban Butler, author of the "Lives of the Saints," died.

1833—Edmund Kean, the great English tragedian, died; born 1787.

1847—Daniel O'Connell, Irish orator and patriot, died; born 1775.

Although familiarly called "the Liberator," O'Connell had no sympathy with the revolutionary spirit of his times. He once declared that he would "accept of no social amelioration at the cost of a single drop of blood."

1808—Edouard Remenyi, noted Hungarian violinist, died; born 1830.

1902—Dr. William Tod Helmuth, noted American surgeon and homeopa-thist, died; born 1833.

Winona Westlichter, removes another old time newspaper man from the ranks of the Minnesota publishers and the news of his death will be received throughout the state. Mr. Leicht died on board the Steamer Lutzan, just off the coast of France, while on his way to old Germany for a rest and recrea-which he caught on the voyage and which he could not successfully combat in his weakened physical condition.

He was ill only three days, and his body was landed at Cherbourg, France, from which point it will probably be brought to Winona.

DEFENSE OF RACE MIX.

Intermarriage Not Advocated at Cosmopolitan Club Feast, Say Members.

Members of the Cosmopolitan club in
New York found themselves famous with a sort of fame some of them did not relish the other day when New York took up a discussion of the dinner recently held at Peck's restaurant
at which white persons and negroes
mingled on a basis of social equality.

Probably the most incensed of those who had anything to do with the dinner were the waiters who were compelled to serve the negroes. Arrangements were made by Andre Tridon of the Cosmopolitan club for ninety-three guests. It was found that the proportion of negroes to white persons was about two to one.

Mary White Ovington, for seven years head worker in the Greenpoint
settlement and for four years a student of conditions among negroes, came to the defense of the white guests who had participated, says the New York Herald. Miss Ovington is the daughter of the proprietor of the Hotel St.
George, Brooklyn, and a woman reputedly of independent income. In her office on the third floor of the tenement house for negroes at 233 West
Sixty-third street Miss Ovington said:
"The subject of intermarriage of the two races did not come up except when referred to by Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent, as one of the forces
that were at work. He did not advocate it, but merely said that continued
to any great extent intermarriage would solve the problem. I look upon the question of intermarriage as one that needs no discussion, for it is not taking place to any great degree and is not likely to do so. The sentiment against amalgamation by intermarriage is as strong among the negroes
as among white men."

Andre Tridon, who identifies himself
as a lecturer and a magazine writer,
in his apartment in New York had typewritten a statement, of which this
was part:

"The impression has been made that the dinner was a sort of fast affair at which white men entertained negro girls. The presence at the dinner of men like Hamilton Holt, of Mr. Villard, editor of the Evening Post, and of Miss Ovington shows that last night's affair was not intended to supply yellow papers with funny copy."

Mr. Tridon said the Cosmopolitan club had about eighty members, half
of whom were white and half negroes.
That there was such a preponderance
of negroes at Monday's dinner he explained by saying that naturally more
of the negroes invited would attend.

"As to the question of intermarriage," he said in answer to a question,
"we consider it a purely personal one,
just as personal as whether a man should shave or wear a beard."

Oswald G. Villard, grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, who was present at the dinner as an invited guest and not as a member of the society, made a speech, but did not advocate intermarriage any more than did Mr. Holt.

"Many of the newspaper accounts of the dinner are malicious and false," said Mr. Villard. "The subject of intermarriage was not discussed by any of the speakers save by one in passing,
and he declared it to be impossible.
The object of the meeting was merely for the purpose of exchanging ideas on how best to help forward the col red people."

DEFENSE OF RACE MIX.

Intermarriage Not Advocated at Cosmopolitan Club Feast, Say Members.

Members of the Cosmopolitan club in
New York found themselves famous
with a sort of fame some of them did
not relish the other day when New York took up a discussion of the dinner recently held at Peck's restaurant
at which white persons and negroes
mingled on a basis of social equality.

Probably the most incensed of those
who had anything to do with the dinner were the waiters who were compelled to serve the negroes. Arrangements were made by Andre Tridon of
the Cosmopolitan club for ninety-three guests. It was found that the proportion of negroes to white persons was
about two to one.

Mary White Ovington, for seven
years head worker in the Greenpoint
settlement and for four years a student of conditions among negroes, came to the defense of the white guests who had participated, says the New York Herald. Miss Ovington is the daughter of the proprietor of the Hotel St.
George, Brooklyn, and a woman reputedly of independent income. In her office on the third floor of the tenement house for negroes at 233 West
Sixty-third street Miss Ovington said:

"The subject of intermarriage of the two races did not come up except when
referred to by Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent, as one of the forces
that were at work. He did not advocate it, but merely said that continued
to any great extent intermarriage
would solve the problem. I look upon
the question of intermarriage as one
that needs no discussion, for it is not taking place to any great degree and is not likely to do so. The sentiment
against amalgamation by intermar-
riage is as strong among the negroes
as among white men."

Andre Tridon, who identifies himself
as a lecturer and a magazine writer.
In his apartment in New York had typewritten a statement, of which this
was part:

"The impression has been made that the dinner was a sort of fast affair at which white men entertained negro
girls. The presence at the dinner of men like Hamilton Holt, of Mr. Villard, editor of the Evening Post, and
of Miss Ovington shows that last
night's affair was not intended to supply yellow papers with funny copy."

Mr. Tridon said the Cosmopolitan
club had about eighty members, half
of whom were white and half negroes.
That there was such a preponderance
of negroes at Monday's dinner he explained by saying that naturally more
of the negroes invited would attend.

"As to the question of intermar-
riage," he said in answer to a question,
"we consider it a purely personal one,
just as personal as whether a man
should shave or wear a beard."

Oswald G. Villard, grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, who was present
at the dinner as an invited guest and
not as a member of the society, made
a speech, but did not advocate intermarriage any more than did Mr. Holt.

"Many of the newspaper accounts of
the dinner are malicious and false,"
said Mr. Villard. "The subject of intermarriage was not discussed by any
of the speakers save by one in passing,
and he declared it to be impossible.
The object of the meeting was merely
for the purpose of exchanging ideas on how best to help forward the colored people."

TEN MORE PLEAD GUILTY

Several More Arrests in Saloon Cases Yesterday Resulted in More Fines

12 ALTOGETHER PLEAD GUILTY

Where Two Charges Were Brought One Plea is Accepted and Other Dropped

There were six arraignments in the municipal court Thursday afternoon in the liquor cases. Tony Algrim, Dee Holden, Geo. Hoyt, Tom McIntyre, Iver Holden and Jerry Crowley were arraigned, Geo. Hoyt and Iver Holden pleading guilty and paying a fine of $20 and costs each. The cases of Tony Algrim and of Tom McIntyre, bartender for Pat Welsh, were passed until this morning when the pleads guilty, receiving the same sentence as the others. Frank Thienes, who was arraigned Tuesday and his trial set for this morning, plead guilty on one count and the other was dismissed. The same fine was imposed as in other cases.

This afternoon the bartenders at the places of Dee Holden and Jerry Crowley were arraigned in order, the county attorney said, that the question of the liability be settled between the owners and bartenders. Mr. Holden was out of the city over Sunday and his attorney, Judge Fleming, believed that he could successfully defend him on that ground. He was ready, however, to pay one fine. By stipulation the plea of guilty was accepted in the case of Mr. Holden and the cases of Wm. Brady and Fred McNaughton, his bar tenders, were dismissed. A plea of guilty was accepted in the case against Mr. Crowley and that against Mr. Tardy his bar tender, was dismissed. John Wise, through his attorney withdrew his plea of not guilty and plead guilty on one charge, the other being dropped. This cleaned up all the cases brought and it is said ends the prosecutions under the evidence secured Sunday last.

FAREWELL PARTY

Party Given at Home of Mrs. S. R. Adair in Honor of Mrs. Jay Bachelder

A very pleasant card party was given last evening at the home of Mrs. S. R. Rowley. 500 was played. Dainty refreshments were served after which a handsome gold bracelet was presented Mrs. Bachelder by the friends who to the number of about 30 were assembled. A very pleasant evening was spent.

A Splendid Lecture

The illustrated lecture given in Masonic hall Thursday evening before the Masons of the city and their ladies was a most delightful treat to those present. The hall was well filled and Mr. Morrill was at his best, touching all the chords of the heart at will. The pictures of scenes in Egypt, Malta and the Holy Land were not only beautiful, but of special interest to the members of the fraternity. The scenes in the Land of the Midnight Sun were picturesque in the extreme and were of scenery wildly grand. The musical recital was a fragmentary medley of music expressing the various epochs of life and interspersed with spicy comment. The only fault found was that there was not enough of it. The masons of Brainerd are under a debt of gratitude to Mr. Morrill for an entertaining and instructive evening.

"At the Unique"

At the Unique theatre the program last night was even stronger than those heretofore given at that popular theatre. The Ranfs are making a great hit with their slack wire juggling which is certainly wonderful. The illustrated song, "Just Because he Could Not Sing," is one of the best yet and was beautifully sung by Miss Graham. "Lonesome Junction," is a portrayal of the experiences of a party of tourists at a little railroad station in the Rocky mountains miles and miles from "White Way" civilization. Although a small burg it deserves a large dot because of the exciting times experienced there. "Making Charcoal" is descriptive, as its name indicates, and shows the process fully. "The Airship a Hundred Years Hence" and Secretary Taft at Washington," completed the excellent program.

If any one has any doubt as to the virtue of Foley's Kidney Cure, they need only to refer to Mr. Alvin H. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to acute kidney trouble. H. P. Dunn, mwf dw

A Guest From the Wilderness.
A gigantic timber wolf was our guest for nearly two years. At rare intervals, and then only when quite alone with me, would his serious face relax and his cold eyes warm up with a friendly light. At such times he would smile, wag his tail, lick my face and hands and even take my cheek gently in his great white teeth. When others were present he merely tolerated them, perhaps because we wished it, but he never smiled or waved his brush, and it would not have been safe for them to have remained alone with him. He had a lasting hatred for dogs and never lost an opportunity to show his enmity toward them. Once, when out with me, a large dog chanced to cross the path. The wolf hurled himself, a living missile, against the luckless object of his animosity and with a single bite laid bare his skull.—Suburban Life.

TO BUILD 250 STOCK CARS HERE

Northern Pacific Will Build 500 Cars This Summer, Half of Them Here

MATERIAL HAS BEEN ORDERED

Work Will Commence on Them Just as Soon as Material Reaches Brainerd

Word reaches this city from St. Paul, that the Northern Pacific railroad will build 500 stock cars this summer. There will be 250 of them built in Brainerd and 250 in Tacoma. The local officials in the shops here, when asked about the matter refused to talk, but from other reliable sources it is learned that the material has already been ordered and that work on them will commence just as soon as it commences to arrive. This in addition to the regular repair work will insure the car side a good season's work.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Evangelist Daniels Speaks on Record Making and Strongly Points Out Duty of Citizenship

A stirring sermon was preached last evening at the Methodist church by Evangelist Daniels on the theme of "Record Making." The audience reached a high state of enthusiasm when the eloquent southerner touched upon the point of the citizen making his record for civic righteousness. The audience last evening was composed largely of men, a striking feature of the audiences attracted by the preaching of the evangelist, and when he asked for all present who were interested in having Brainerd become a place where the law was respected and kept the large audience present pressed to the altar and took the hand of the evangelist swearing fealty to the cause. The sermon was a strong one and left a profound impression of the large audience present. Messrs. Fuller, Harmer and Davis sang a trio during the song service. "Which Do You Like?" is the theme announced for tonight. Service at 7:45 and all are invited.

American Life in the Open.

Nor is it only in the field of social gossip that America insists upon and always obtains the fullest publicity. Its government lives in a glass house, with all the electric lights turned on, the blinds up and a reporter at each window, if not at each keyhole. The pros and cons of every cause celebre are thrashed out in the press long before they are brought before the courts. The most unpopular man I ever encountered in America was an Englishman who had the audacity to surround his "place" on the outskirts of Chicago with a high brick wall. High brick walls are bitterly resented as undemocratic. There are no hedges in America, not because they will not grow, but because they are an invasion of your neighbor's right to an uninterrupted view of whatever you may happen to be doing.—London Chronicle.

FARM, HOME AND GARDEN

The Industrial Contest is a contest in the production of grain, corn, fruit and vegetables and in sewing and cooking by Minnesota boys and girls under 18 years of age. It has been conducted very successfully in the state for the past two years and prior to that time by several counties independently.

The object of this work is to get the boys and girls interested in the general duties about the farm and home so they will see more in the things being done about them. So many boys and girls are brought up in the country in touch with the affairs of the farm and home and never learn to know or understand them simply because their attention has not been called to these things. Once they are interested and encouraged to do their best they see that there is in reality a great deal to the things they have considered so simple. When they realize that there is a good and a poor way to do things and that real skill and knowledge are required to do them well, they see that these plain tasks are really worthy of and require their very best efforts. The teacher is not expected to be able to give the pupils instruction in these various subjects but can emphasize the importance of doing them and doing them well, and the pupil can get the information needed from Rural School Agricultural Bulletin No. 2, which is furnished free to each contestant.

The boys and girls of Crow Wing county are much interested in this contest and many of the pupils in the country schools will prepare articles for the county and state contest. The county contest will be conducted by the county superintendent of schools, who will send the articles in for state contest. Supt. Wilson in company with L. P. Harrington, of the Crookston school of agriculture, visited a number of schools, and explained to the children the object of these contests. Many boys and girls pledged themselves to enter the contest and we predict that Supt. Wilson will have the largest and best contest this year, ever held in the county or in this part of the state.

Mr. Harrington has visited many schools in various counties of the state and after his visit in Crow Wing county expressed himself as much pleased with the work that is being done in the country schools.

Teachers are interested and doing efficient work, school buildings are in fair condition, libraries are numerous and the boys and girls are doing excellent work.

Preparations for the state and county contest will not interfere with the regular work of the schools but will rather increase the interest in all school work. Let the good work go on and let us have a hundred or more boys and girls at work for this contest.

Mrs. S. Joyce, 160 Sullivan St., Claremont, N. H., writes: "About a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It cured me of a severe case of Kidney trouble of several years' standing. It certainly is a grand, good medicine, and I heartily recommend it." H. P. Dunn, mwf dw

Delane's Nose For News.

The announcement of the second Lord Lytton's appointment as viceroy of India at a time when the government was keeping the matter a secret was one of the greatest feats of Delane. The story goes that the famous editor of the Times was sitting at dinner next to an equally famous physician, who happened to mention that Lord Lytton had consulted him that morning as to the fitness of his constitution to withstand the Indian climate. Delane wisely asked no questions, but drew his inference from what he heard, and the next morning the Times announced the appointment of Lord Lytton as viceroy of India. Whether true or not, the story points the moral that the doctor should take care not to let any fact, however trivial, learned from a patient who consults him escape his lips.—Grand Magazine.

Alfred Austin's Roses.

In "Leaves From a Life" is a story of Alfred Austin, the poet. When Mr. Austin was about thirty the author and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Yates (Mr. Yates was the founder of the London World) went to stay with the poet at his charming house in Hertfordshire. "When we were good," she says, "Mr. Austin used to give us each a rose, and I really ceased to worship him from afar when I caught him standing on a chair to put Mrs. Yates' rose in her splendid black hair. She was very tall, and he was not. Still, if he wanted to be worshiped he should not have done such a ridiculous thing. Edmund Yates and I simply doubled up with laughter and escaped to the uttermost end of the garden. We dared not let him discover that we had seen him, though Mrs. Yates had perceived us and was hardly able to stand still until the rose was arranged to his satisfaction."

It is explained, by the way, that no one who ever saw Mrs. Yates "could avoid falling in love with her" and that her husband was quite used to it. "She was actually and positively the most beautiful woman I have ever seen."

BOTTLED GAS.

German Invention That Compares Favorably With Electric Light.

Blaugas, a compressed illuminant which can be taken home in steel bottles and fed into the burners by means of little copper tubes no larger around than ordinary wires, was recently introduced to the Society of Chemical Industry in New York by Professor William Hallock. He is the dean of the department of physics in Columbia university and has given much attention to illuminating methods.

This new kind of lighting vapor, which resembles ordinary gas, was invented by Herman Blau of Augsburg, Germany. It is made at a somewhat lower temperature than is needed in the retorts in the United States, and the product is compressed until it takes liquid form. The turning on of the stopcock of the cylinder in which it is placed causes the fluid to expand into gas, and out it comes like the genie which the gentleman of the "Arabian Nights" tale found in the bottle he took from the sea.

Blaugas, however, is a very portable commodity, and it can be taken aboard yachts and "wired" in country houses and made available very easily on short notice. Professor Hallock said that it was not affected by temperature changes and could be kept indefinitely.

He installed several cylinders filled with the new illuminant in the lecture room of the Chemists' club and turned on a few liters of it for the benefit of the scientists. The tubes which he employed were of finely drawn copper and were only one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. They were curled about just like electric wires, and at a distance they looked just as though they might be part of some electric machine.

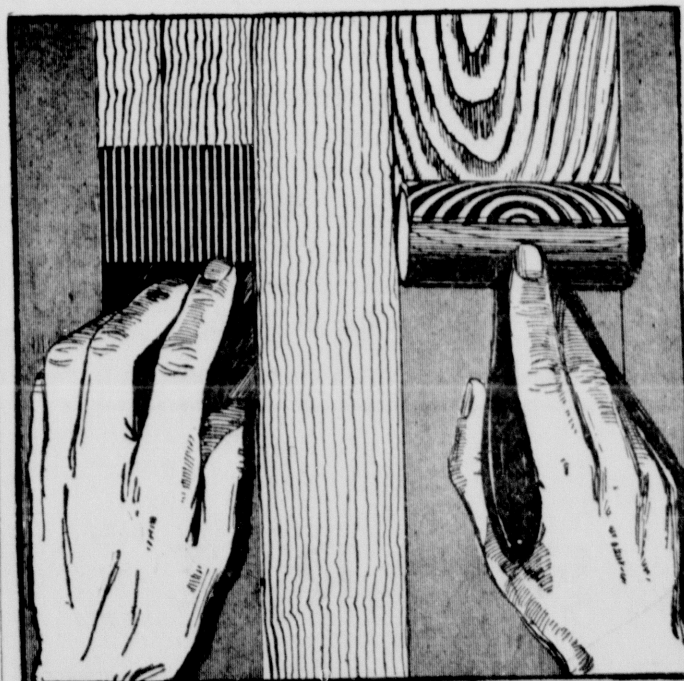

Professor Hallock declared that a ten kilo cylinder of Blaugas, which costs $1.50, would supply a fifty candle power incandescent burner for four months provided it was used four hours a day. Cylinders of Blaugas such as are sold in Germany vary from half a kilo, or a little more than a pound each, to twenty-five kilos. In illumination of country houses a large cylinder is used, and a part of its contents at a time is permitted to escape into an intermediate tank, from which it is turned into pipes.

You shall have only a penny now. Tommy Smith (angrily)—Well, stuff the penny in your pocket, and that will be an invisible brown.—Pearson's

A Hardwood Floor of any Color You may Choose for $2.50

Slipp-Gruenhagen Co.

Floors which are in too poor condition to be improved with varnish alone can be made to imitate a genuine hardwood floor with this new patented Graining System.

This process does not require the services of a professional wood finisher. The Graining Tool takes the place of skill and can be successfully used by the inexperienced man or woman, thus making it possible for any one at a very slight expense to enjoy the luxury of a new hardwood floor.

This Graining Compound when protected by one or two coats of Chi-Namel produces a surface that will outwear any ordinary varnished floor, many times over.

There were six arraignments in the municipal court Thursday afternoon in the liquor cases. Tony Algrim, Dee Holden, Geo. Hoyt, Tom McIntyre, Iver Holden and Jerry Crowley were arraigned, Geo. Hoyt and Iver Holden pleading guilty and paying a fine of $20 and costs each. The cases of Tony Algrim and of Tom McIntyre, bartender for Pat Welsh, were passed until this morning when the pleaded guilty, receiving the same sentence as the others. Frank Thienes, who was arraigned Tuesday and his trial set for this morning, plead guilty on one count and the other was dismissed. The same fine was imposed as in other cases.

This afternoon the bartenders at the places of Dee Holden and Jerry Crowley were arraigned in order, the county attorney said, that the question of the liability be settled between the owners and bartenders. Mr. Holden was out of the city over Sunday and his attorney, Judge Fleming, believed that he could successfully defend him on that ground. He was ready, however, to pay one fine. By stipulation the plea of guilty was accepted in the case of Mr. Holden and the cases of Wm. Brady and Fred McNaughton, his bar tenders, were dismissed. A plea of guilty was accepted in the case against Mr. Crowley and that against Mr. Tardy his bar tender, was dismissed. John Wise, through his attorney withdrew his plea of not guilty and plead guilty on one charge, the other being dropped. This cleaned up all the cases brought and it is said ends the prosecutions under the evidence secured Sunday last.

FAREWELL PARTY

Party Given at Home of Mrs. S. R. Adair in Honor of Mrs. Jay Bachelder

A very pleasant card party was given last evening at the home of Mrs. S. R. Adair in honor of Mrs. Jay Bachelder, who soon leaves to join her husband at Nome, Alaska, where they will make their future home. Mrs. Adair was assisted by Mrs. Martin Nelson and Mrs. C. B. Rowley. 500 was played. Dainty refreshments were served after which a handsome gold bracelet was presented Mrs. Bachelder by the friends who to the number of about 30 were assembled. A very pleasant evening was spent.

A Splendid Lecture

The illustrated lecture given in Masonic hall Thursday evening before the Masons of the city and their ladies was a most delightful treat to those present. The hall was well filled and Mr. Morrill was at his best, touching all the chords of the heart at will. The pictures of scenes in Egypt, Malta and the Holy Land were not only beautiful, but of special interest to the members of the fraternity. The scenes in the Land of the Midnight Sun were picturesque in the extreme and were of scenery wildly grand. The musical recital was a fragmentary medley of music expressing the various epochs of life and interspersed with spicy comment. The only fault found was that there was not enough of it. The masons of Brainerd are under a debt of gratitude to Mr. Morrill for an entertaining and instructive evening.

"At the Unique"

At the Unique theatre the program last night was even stronger than those heretofore given at that popular theatre. The Ranfs are making a great hit with their slack wire juggling which is certainly wonderful. The illustrated song, "Just Because he Could Not Sing," is one of the best yet and was beautifully sung by Miss Graham. "Lonesome Junction," is a portrayal of the experiences of a party of tourists at a little railroad station in the Rocky mountains miles and miles from "White Way" civilization. Although a small burg it deserves a large dot because of the exciting times experienced there. "Making Charcoal" is descriptive, as its name indicates, and shows the process fully. "The Airship a Hundred Years Hence" and Secretary Taft at Washington," completed the excellent program.

A Guest From the Wilderness.

A gigantic timber wolf was our guest for nearly two years. At rare intervals, and then only when quite alone with me, would his serious face relax and his cold eyes warm up with a friendly light. At such times he would smile, wag his tail, lick my face and hands and even take my cheek gently in his great white teeth. When others were present he merely tolerated them, perhaps because we wished it, but he never smiled or waved his brush, and it would not have been safe for them to have remained alone with him. He had a lasting hatred for dogs and never lost an opportunity to show his enmity toward them. Once, when out with me, a large dog chanced to cross the path. The wolf hurled himself, a living missile, against the luckless object of his animosity and with a single bite laid bare his skull.—Suburban Life.

Word reaches this city from St. Paul, that the Northern Pacific railroad will build 500 stock cars this summer. There will be 250 of them built in Brainerd and 250 in Tacoma. The local officials in the shops here, when asked about the matter refused to talk, but from other reliable sources it is learned that the material has already been ordered and that work on them will commence just as soon as it commences to arrive. This in addition to the regular repair work will insure the car side a good season's work.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Evangelist Daniels Speaks on Record
Making and Strongly Points Out
Duty of Citizenship

A stirring sermon was preached last evening at the Methodist church by Evangelist Daniels on the theme of "Record Making." The audience reached a high state of enthusiasm when the eloquent southerner touched upon the point of the citizen making his record for civic righteousness. The audience last evening was composed largely of men, a striking feature of the audiences attracted by the preaching of the evangelist, and when he asked for all present who were interested in having Brainerd become a place where the law was respected and kept the large audience present pressed to the altar and took the hand of the evangelist swearing fealty to the cause. The sermon was a strong one and left a profound impression of the large audience present. Messrs. Fuller, Harmer and Davis sang a trio during the song service. "Which Do You Like?" is the theme announced for tonight. Service at 7:45 and all are invited.

American Life in the Open.

Nor is it only in the field of social gossip that America insists upon and always obtains the fullest publicity. Its government lives in a glass house, with all the electric lights turned on, the blinds up and a reporter at each window, if not at each keyhole. The pros and cons of every cause celebre are thrashed out in the press long before they are brought before the courts. The most unpopular man I ever encountered in America was an Englishman who had the audacity to surround his "place" on the outskirts of Chicago with a high brick wall. High brick walls are bitterly resented as undemocratic. There are no hedges in America, not because they will not grow, but because they are an invasion of your neighbor's right to an uninterrupted view of whatever you may happen to be doing.—London Chronicle.

FARM, HOME AND GARDEN

The Industrial Contest is a contest in the production of grain, corn, fruit and vegetables and in sewing and cooking by Minnesota boys and girls under 18 years of age. It has been conducted very successfully in the state for the past two years and prior to that time by several counties independently.

The object of this work is to get the boys and girls interested in the general duties about the farm and home so they will see more in the things being done about them. So many boys and girls are brought up in the country in touch with the affairs of the farm and home and never learn to know or understand them simply because their attention has not been called to these things. Once they are interested and encouraged to do their best they see that there is in reality a great deal to the things they have considered so simple. When they realize that there is a good and a poor way to do things and that real skill and knowledge are required to do them well, they see that these plain tasks are really worthy of and require their very best efforts. The teacher is not expected to be able to give the pupils instruction in these various subjects but can emphasize the importance of doing them and doing them well, and the pupil can get the information needed from Rural School Agricultural Bulletin No. 2, which is furnished free to each contestant.

The boys and girls of Crow Wing county are much interested in this contest and many of the pupils in the country schools will prepare articles for the county and state contest. The county contest will be conducted by the county superintendent of schools, who will send the articles in for state contest. Supt. Wilson in company with L. P. Harrington, of the Crookston school of agriculture, visited a number schools, and explained to the children the object of these contests. Many boys and girls pledged themselves to enter the contest and we predict that Supt. Wilson will have the largest and best contest this year, ever held in the county or in this part of the state.

Mr. Harrington has visited many schools in various counties of the state and after his visit in Crow Wing county expressed himself as much pleased with the work that is being done in the country schools.

Teachers are interested and doing efficient work, school buildings are in fair condition, libraries are numerous and the boys and girls are doing excellent work.

Preparations for the state and county contest will not interfere with the regular work of the schools but will rather increase the interest in all school work. Let the good work go on and let us have a hundred or more boys and girls at work for this contest.

Mrs. S. Joyce, 160 Sullivan St., Claremont, N. H., writes: "About a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It cured me of a severe case of Kidney trouble of several years' standing. It certainly is a grand, good medicine, and I heartily recommend it." H. P. Dunn. mwf dw

Delane's Nose For News.

The announcement of the second Lord Lytton's appointment as viceroy of India at a time when the government was keeping the matter a secret was one of the greatest feats of Delane. The story goes that the famous editor of the Times was sitting at dinner next to an equally famous physician, who happened to mention that Lord Lytton had consulted him that morning as to the fitness of his constitution to withstand the Indian climate. Delane wisely asked no questions, but drew his inference from what he heard, and the next morning the Times announced the appointment of Lord Lytton as viceroy of India. Whether true or not, the story points the moral that the doctor should take care not to let any fact, however trivial, learned from a patient who consults him escape his lips.—Grand Magazine.

Alfred Austin's Roses.

In "Leaves From a Life" is a story of Alfred Austin, the poet. When Mr. Austin was about thirty the author and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Yates (Mr. Yates was the founder of the London World) went to stay with the poet at his charming house in Hertfordshire. "When we were good," she says, "Mr. Austin used to give us each a rose, and I really ceased to worship him from afar when I caught him standing on a chair to put Mrs. Yates' rose in her splendid black hair. She was very tall, and he was not. Still, if he wanted to be worshiped he should not have done such a ridiculous thing. Edmund Yates and I simply doubled up with laughter and escaped to the uttermost end of the garden. We dared not let him discover that we had seen him, though Mrs. Yates had perceived us and was hardly able to stand still until the rose was arranged to his satisfaction."

It is explained, by the way, that no one who ever saw Mrs. Yates "could avoid falling in love with her" and that her husband was quite used to it. "She was actually and positively the most beautiful woman I have ever seen."

BOTTLED GAS.

German Invention That Compares Favorably With Electric Light.

Blaugas, a compressed illuminant which can be taken home in steel bottles and fed into the burners by means of little copper tubes no larger around than ordinary wires, was recently introduced to the Society of Chemical Industry in New York by Professor William Hallock. He is the dean of the department of physics in Columbia university and has given much attention to illuminating methods.

This new kind of lighting vapor, which resembles ordinary gas, was invented by Herman Blau of Augsburg, Germany. It is made at a somewhat lower temperature than is needed in the retorts in the United States, and the product is compressed until it takes liquid form. The turning on of the stopcock of the cylinder in which it is placed causes the fluid to expand into gas, and out it comes like the genie which the gentleman of the "Arabian Nights" tale found in the bottle he took from the sea.

Blaugas, however, is a very portable commodity, and it can be taken aboard yachts and "wired" in country houses and made available very easily on short notice. Professor Hallock said that it was not affected by temperature changes and could be kept indefinitely.

He installed several cylinders filled with the new illuminant in the lecture room of the Chemists' club and turned on a few liters of it for the benefit of the scientists. The tubes which he employed were of finely drawn copper and were only one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. They were curled about just like electric wires, and at a distance they looked just as though they might be part of some electric machine.

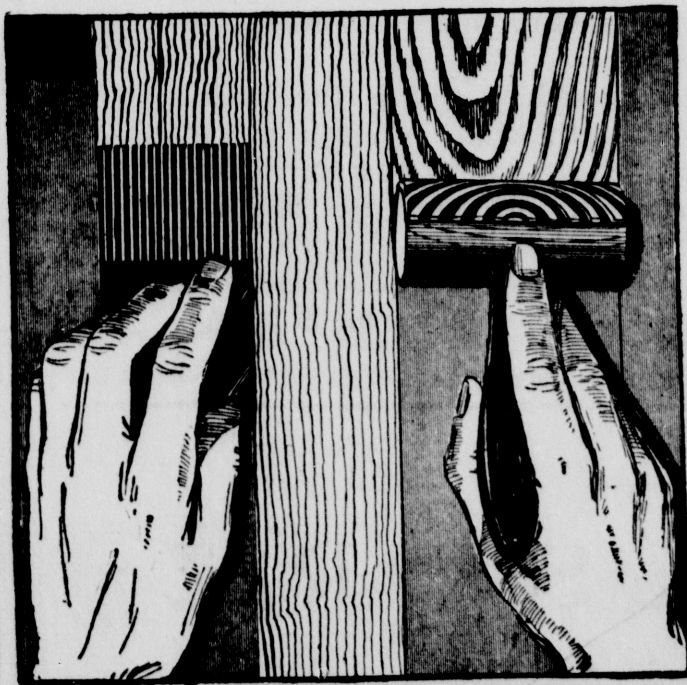

Professor Hallock declared that a ten kilo cylinder of Blaugas, which costs $1.50, would supply a fifty candle power incandescent burner for four months provided it was used four hours a day. Cylinders of Blaugas such as are sold in Germany vary from half a kilo, or a little more than a pound each, to twenty-five kilos. In illumination of country houses a large cylinder is used, and a part of its contents at a time is permitted to escape into an intermediate tank, from which it is turned into pipes.

A Hardwood Floor of any Color
You may Choose for $2.50

Floors which are in too poor condition to be improved with varnish alone can be made to imitate a genuine hardwood floor with this new patented Graining System.

This process does not require the services of a professional wood finisher.

The Graining Tool takes the place of skill and can be successfully used by the inexperienced man or woman, thus making it possible for any one at a very slight expense to enjoy the luxury of a new hardwood floor.

This Graining Compound when protected by one or two coats of Chi-Namel produces a surface that will outwear any ordinary varnished floor, many times over.

WARNER OF CYCLONES

Valuable Attachment to Barograph Invented by Jesuits.

MAY BE MEANS OF SAVING LIFE

Simple Device of Fathers Zwack and Coronas in Manila Has Been Worked Into Shape by Filipino Mechanic. Believed It Will Stand Any Test.

To the Jesuit fathers at Manila belongs the honor of inventing an extremely useful attachment to the Fuess barograph. This barograph is an instrument whose use is giving warning of the approach of cyclonic disturbances.

It consists of a barometer suspended from the short arm of a balance, along which a clock moves a pencil which traces the atmospheric pressure upon a card. Hitherto it has been necessary to watch the barograph closely in order to know the true readings.

With the attachment invented in the observatory of Manila one may set the barograph to what one considers the safe limit of atmospheric pressure and retire, sure that when that limit is reached an electric bell will ring to rouse him from slumber to watch for the approaching cyclonic changes.

The device, like most other useful scientific inventions, is very simple and consists of a small brass square sliding on a rod, says a special cable dispatch from Manila to the Chicago Inter Ocean. When the predetermined limit of atmospheric pressure is reached a delicate spring is pressed. This spring is connected by means of wires with an electric bell at any desired distance from the instrument, and the work is done.

The attachment is the work of Fathers Zwack and Coronas and a Filipino mechanic who is with the Jesuits. The fathers suggested an apparatus

STARTLING WARNING

Sounded at Conference of Governors in Washington.

TELLS OF WANTON WASTE

James J. Hill Speaks on the Depletion of the Nation's Resources—Draws Picture of Political Chaos When They Are Gone.

Washington, May 15.—Startling was the warning sounded at the conference of governors at the White House of the danger the nation confronts in soil waste and forest depletion. The governors listened and talked and applauded, but took no action. This is left for the last day of the conference, and a plan is afoot to have the prepared speeches for that day printed in the record without reading in order that the time may be devoted wholly to results. The resolutions committee was in session all day and is ready to report. A supplementary meeting of a number of governors followed the day's session and a committee consisting of the governors of Kentucky, Missouri and Nebraska was appointed to bring in a suggestion for a permanent organization of governors, independent, perhaps, or any other organization which may be formed by the conference. The president opened the morning and afternoon sessions, which were thereafter presided over by Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota and Governor Deneen of Illinois, respectively.

James J. Hill of the Great Northern, who led a long list of speakers, treated the depletion of the nation's resources in a very serious and impressive way. He presented conditions respecting mineral, soil and forest, showing wanton waste in each instance and drew a picture of political chaos when all were gone, wherein the people would tear down the very pillars of government. Mr. Hill believed such results could and should be averted by prompt action.

Received Expert Treatment.

Soil waste and forest conservation received expert treatment by Professor T. C. Chamberlain of Chicago and R. A. Long of Kansas City, after which was evidenced the desire of the convention to engage in general discussion. The demand to be heard was insistent and the same eagerness was manifested at the close of the afternoon programme, which included an address on irrigation by former Governor Pardee of California; a paper on grazing and stock raising read by H. A. Jastro of California, who was taken ill, and general observation on land conditions in the West by former Senator Carey of Wyoming.

Secretary Wilson met a hearty response to a practical talk on the mistakes in farming and the remedies. The same crop each year on the same land, as he showed, was ruinous. Diversity of crops, and keeping the proper quantity of organic matter in the soil, was the secret of larger production and benefit to the land.

"What New York state has and is doing for her forests," was set forth with spirit by J. S. Whipple, forest, fish and game commissioner of the Empire state. In twenty-two years, he predicted, not a single sawing stick of timber would be standing in that state, unless a halt was called on cutting logs. This notwithstanding that the state was planting more trees than all other states and the nation combined.

Forty per cent of New Jersey is wood land, asserted Governor Fort, as he began an entertaining talk which ended with the declaration that the ambition of the state was to be the playground of the nation, and to its seashores and woods he invited the governors to come next year.

Yale Graduating Foresters.

Yale university is graduating practical foresters at the rate of thirty to forty a year, and all of these are obtaining positions. The desire for experts led President Hadley of Yale to predict that the people of the nation would be aroused and educated to true conditions in twenty years, and would then assume the burden of conserving the resources of the country without state or national aid or direction. And here it was that Governor Glenn of North Carolina got the platform and won applause at once by declaring, "in the language of one of the greatest sages and statesmen of these United States, Grover Cleveland—'It is a condition and not a theory that confronts us today.'"

Forest protection was the nation's present duty, and he advocated cooperation between the states and the nation. Governor Glenn demanded that at the conference leave no doubt on the mind of congress of what was wanted, and as an entering wedge, he wanted resolutions endorsing the pending bill creating the White mountain and Appalachian forest reserves. The applause which met this statement indicated that the governor had his audience with him, and he proceeded to answer Speaker Cannon's banquet suggestion of the night before that the states might well unite their forces to this end and leave the nation out. "I want to remark," said Governor Glenn with emphasis, "that we of the South tried such a confederation once, but it did not pay. We want no more of it."

The convention was on its feet. Hats and handkerchiefs were waved, governors and delegates shouted and applauded, while Governor Glenn went on to remark that he was the son of a Confederate who died for the cause, and now he was the son of the Union, and interested first and last in the welfare of the United States.

Quieting down from its outburst of enthusiasm, the convention listened to the record of Wisconsin on the control of the minerals and timber as set forth by Governor Davidson of that state, and then took a recess for luncheon.

Following the regular papers on the afternoon programme, Governor Folk of Missouri gave his endorsement to what Governor Glenn said about congressional action. He declared he should go home and appoint a forestry commission and urged all governors to do likewise.

Issue was squarely joined as to some of the methods pursued by the government in the regulation of forest reserves by four governors from the Northwest.

Governor Burke of North Dakota brought the general discussion to a close with the opinion that the forests and waterways should be the problem of the states themselves.

HEARING IN THAW CASE.

To Determine Whether He Should Be Set Free.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 15.—With the proceedings accelerated by the decision of Justice Morschauser to hold court in practically continuous sessions from 9 o'clock in the morning to 10 at night, considerable progress was made in the supreme court here with the hearing which is expected to determine whether Harry K. Thaw shall be liberated from the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan, where he was lodged following his acquittal on the ground of insanity of the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Stanford White.

Following the settlement of the preliminary legal points, which included a ruling by the court that the question of Thaw's sanity and of the constitutionality of his commitment would be proceeded with simultaneously, Attorney James G. Graham of Thaw's counsel opened the presentation of his case by calling several physicians, among them Dr. Frank H. McGuire, superintendent of the Tombs prison in New York city, and Dr. Charles E. Lane, physician of Poughkeepsie, who testified as to Thaw's apparent rationality during his confinement in prison and in the Matteawan asylum. All the medical witnesses were sharply cross-examined by District Attorney Jerome of New York, who appeared to oppose Thaw's release.

Thaw's counsel rested their case without having placed Thaw on the stand or having presented their expert testimony. District Attorney Jerome then proceeded with his case on the understanding that the relator's counsel were holding their expert witnesses for rebuttal.

Mr. Jerome's one witness was Dr. Austin Flint of New York, an expert on mental diseases. Dr. Flint repeated his testimony at the second Thaw trial to a great extent, characterizing Thaw as a paranoiac, the victim of a disease from which, he declared, the patient never recovers.

INSTRUCTED FOR TAFT.

Delegation From North Dakota to Chicago Convention.

Minot, N. D., May 15.—Eight delegates to the Republican national convention instructed to vote for Taft and proposed by the "stalwart" wing of the Republican party were elected in the state convention here. The convention was a complete victory for Alexander McKenzie and his friends, who controlled on the first vote, which was on the insurgent candidate for national committeeman, by a vote of 260 to 182.

The delegates elected are as follows: R. H. Johnson, Dickinson; L. C. Pettibone, Dawson; C. R. Meredith, Cass; A. Landager, Ransom; Vic Rose, Ward; Jud Lamoure, Bottineau; C. J. Lord, Cando; C. A. Stebbins, McHenry.

The presidential electors are Olaf Hagen, Ramsey; Herman Scheer, Wells; Ed Nichols, Morton; Anton Hanson, Benson.

The resolutions indorse President Roosevelt in emphatic terms; hail Taft as the next president of the United States; advocate tariff revision by the Republicans and not by the Democrats; condemn Governor Burke "for his failure to carry out his pledges by using his influence to secure the raising of the assessed valuation of the railroad properties of the state; advocate government control of public service corporations, and praise Republican state and national public officials.

PORTIONS OF JAWBONES.

Found in the Cellar of the Guinness Farmhouse.

Laporte, Ind., May 15.—Portions of human jawbones and pieces of skin on which traces of hair are apparent and which may prove to be a part of a human scalp, were found in the cellar of the Guinness farmhouse. With one accord, the prosecuting officers of the county declare that these relics are the most valuable to their case that have yet been discovered. Even Ralph N. Smith, the prosecuting attorney, broke silence on this occasion, exclaiming after viewing the bones: "Well, this case is certainly getting stronger."

The bones were found by the men who have been sifting the ashes in the cellar of the house, under the direction of Sheriff Smutzer.

The day's findings also included several charred vertebrae. The value of these exhibits is doubtful, however, as one of them possesses a process which is not to be found in a human spinal column and the others are too badly charred to make identification positive.

Two watches were discovered in the screenings, the total of these relics now being ten pieces.

WARNER OF CYCLONES

Valuable Attachment to Barograph Invented by Jesuits.

MAY BE MEANS OF SAVING LIFE

Simple Device of Fathers Zwack and Coronas in Manila Has Been Worked Into Shape by Filipino Mechanic. Believed It Will Stand Any Test.

To the Jesuit fathers at Manila belongs the honor of inventing an extremely useful attachment to the Fuess barograph. This barograph is an instrument whose use is giving warning of the approach of cyclonic disturbances.

It consists of a barometer suspended from the short arm of a balance, along which a clock moves a pencil which traces the atmospheric pressure upon a card. Hitherto it has been necessary to watch the barograph closely in order to know the true readings.

With the attachment invented in the observatory of Manila one may set the barograph to what one considers the safe limit of atmospheric pressure and retire, sure that when that limit is reached an electric bell will ring to rouse him from slumber to watch for the approaching cyclonic changes.

The device, like most other useful scientific inventions, is very simple and consists of a small brass square sliding on a rod, says a special cable dispatch from Manila to the Chicago Inter Ocean. When the predetermined limit of atmospheric pressure is reached a delicate spring is pressed. This spring is connected by means of wires with an electric bell at any desired distance from the instrument, and the work is done.

The attachment is the work of Fathers Zwack and Coronas and a Filipino mechanic who is with the Jesuits. The fathers suggested an apparatus much more complicated than the one now in use, but the mechanic, Ramon Trinidad, simplified it to the present form. The fathers are much pleased that such an invention has at length been perfected.

No matter now, they say, how sudden the fall of the barometer or how quickly the cyclone approaches, warning must be given by the electric bell before the storm can burst. Had such an apparatus been in use upon the barograph at Hongkong during the terrible typhoon there in which so much damage was done warning could and would have been sent out before the storm burst, and the damage would have been materially lessened.

The device cannot tell one that a storm is approaching, but it can tell that the barometer is so low that a storm is likely to be somewhere in the vicinity. The fathers are taking steps to call the attention of the world to their invention in the hope of saving many lives and much property. They say it has been thoroughly tested in the observatory at Manila and will stand any test to which it may be subjected.

Where Babies Are Not Buried.

Among the Chinese, both in the Straits Settlements and in their own country, it is nothing uncommon for the corpses of infants to be cast away instead of being buried. The charitable explanation is that this is done to save burial expenses. The Echo de Chine gives the true reason as being the deep rooted superstitious belief among them that the death of a baby arises out of punishment to its soul for sins committed in a previous state of existence. It is an accursed creature whose soul no one will follow. It is hence a common sight in China to see dying babies laid down by the roadside to breathe their last. The parents will not allow them to die in the house, the belief being that infants after their death become wicked spirits. To allow them to die under the parents' roof will bring nothing but evil upon the family.

Dogs and Moslems.

Dogs in Mohammedan countries have even more freedom than with us, not because Mohammedans love them more, but because it is impious to kill or molest an animal, however mean, that Allah lets live. But there is no bit terer insult than to call a Moslem a dog. "The Swiss Family Robinson" is not admitted at the Turkish custom house because it tells about a dog named Turk.

STARTLING WARNING

Sounded at Conference of Governors in Washington.

TELLS OF WANTON WASTE

James J. Hill Speaks on the Depletion of the Nation's Resources—Draws Picture of Political Chaos When They Are Gone.

Washington, May 15.—Startling was the warning sounded at the conference of governors at the White House of the danger the nation confronts in soil waste and forest depletion. The governors listened and talked and applauded, but took no action. This is left for the last day of the conference, and a plan is afoot to have the prepared speeches for that day printed in the record without reading in order that the time may be devoted wholly to results. The resolutions committee was in session all day and is ready to report. A supplementary meeting of a number of governors followed the day's session and a committee consisting of the governors of Kentucky, Missouri and Nebraska was appointed to bring in a suggestion for a permanent organization of governors, independent, perhaps, or any other organization which may be formed by the conference. The president opened the morning and afternoon sessions, which were thereafter presided over by Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota and Governor Deneen of Illinois, respectively.

James J. Hill of the Great Northern, who led a long list of speakers, treated the depletion of the nation's resources in a very serious and impressive way. He presented conditions respecting mineral, soil and forest, showing wanton waste in each instance and drew a picture of political chaos when all were gone, wherein the people would tear down the very pillars of government. Mr. Hill believed such results could and should be averted by prompt action.

Received Expert Treatment.

Soil waste and forest conservation received expert treatment by Professor T. C. Chamberlain of Chicago and R. A. Long of Kansas City, after which was evidenced the desire of the convention to engage in general discussion. The demand to be heard was insistent and the same eagerness was manifested at the close of the afternoon programme, which included an address on irrigation by former Governor Pardee of California; a paper on grazing and stock raising read for H. A. Jastro of California, who was taken ill, and general observation on land conditions in the West by former Senator Carey of Wyoming.

Secretary Wilson met a hearty response to a practical talk on the mistakes in farming and the remedies. The same crop each year on the same land, as he showed, was ruinous. Diversity of crops, and keeping the proper quantity of organic matter in the soil, was the secret of larger production and benefit to the land.

"What New York state has and is doing for her forests," was set forth with spirit by J. S. Whipple, forest, fish and game commissioner of the Empire state. In twenty-two years, he predicted, not a single sawing stick of timber would be standing in that state, unless a halt was called on cutting logs. This notwithstanding that the state was planting more trees than all other states and the nation combined.

Forty per cent of New Jersey is wood land, asserted Governor Fort, as he began an entertaining talk which ended with the declaration that the ambition of the state was to be the playground of the nation, and to its seashores and woods he invited the governors to come next year.

Yale Graduating Foresters.

Yale university is graduating practical foresters at the rate of thirty to forty a year, and all of these are obtaining positions. The desire for experts led President Hadley of Yale to predict that the people of the nation would be aroused and educated to true conditions in twenty years, and would then assume the burden of conserving the resources of the country without state or national aid or direction. And here it was that Governor Glenn of North Carolina got the platform and won applause at once by declaring, "In the language of one of the greatest sages and statesmen of these United States, Grover Cleveland—"It is a condition and not a theory that confronts us today."

Forest protection was the nation's present duty, and he advocated co-operation between the states and the nation. Governor Glenn demanded "at the conference leave no doubt on the mind of congress of what was wanted, and as an entering wedge, he wanted resolutions endorsing the pending bill creating the White mountain and Appalachian forest reserves. The applause which met this statement indicated that the governor had his audience with him, and he proceeded to answer Speaker Cannon's banquet suggestion of the night before that the states might well unite their forces to this end and leave the nation out. "I want to remark," said Governor Glenn with emphasis, "that we of the South tried such a confederation once, but it did not pay. We want no more of it."

The convention was on its feet. Hats and handkerchiefs were waved, governors and delegates shouted and applauded, while Governor Glenn went on to remark that he was the son of a Confederate who died for the cause, and now he was the son of the Union, and interested first and last in the welfare of the United States.

Quieting down from its outburst of enthusiasm, the convention listened to the record of Wisconsin on the control of the minerals and timber as set forth by Governor Davidson of that state, and then took a recess for luncheon.

Following the regular papers on the afternoon programme, Governor Folk of Missouri gave his endorsement to what Governor Glenn said about congressional action. He declared he should go home and appoint a forestry commission and urged all governors to do likewise.

Issue was squarely joined as to some of the methods pursued by the government in the regulation of forest reserves by four governors from the Northwest.

Governor Burke of North Dakota brought the general discussion to a close with the opinion that the forests and waterways should be the problem of the states themselves.

HEARING IN THAW CASE.

To Determine Whether He Should Be Set Free.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 15.—With the proceedings accelerated by the decision of Justice Morschauser to hold court in practically continuous sessions from 9 o'clock in the morning to 10 at night, considerable progress was made in the supreme court here with the hearing which is expected to determine whether Harry K. Thaw shall be liberated from the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan, where he was lodged following his acquittal on the ground of insanity of the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Stanford White.

Following the settlement of the preliminary legal points, which included a ruling by the court that the question of Thaw's sanity and of the constitutionality of his commitment would be proceeded with simultaneously, Attorney James G. Graham of Thaw's counsel opened the presentation of his case by calling several physicians, among them Dr. Frank H. McGuire, superintendent of the Tombs prison in New York city, and Dr. Charles E. Lane, physician of Poughkeepsie, who testified as to Thaw's apparent rationality during his confinement in prison and in the Matteawan asylum. All the medical witnesses were sharply cross-examined by District Attorney Jerome of New York, who appeared to oppose Thaw's release.

Thaw's counsel rested their case without having placed Thaw on the stand or having presented their expert testimony. District Attorney Jerome then proceeded with his case on the understanding that the relator's counsel were holding their expert witnesses for rebuttal.

Mr. Jerome's one witness was Dr. Austin Flint of New York, an expert on mental diseases. Dr. Flint repeated his testimony at the second Thaw trial to a great extent, characterizing Thaw as a paranoiac, the victim of a disease from which, he declared, the patient never recovers.

INSTRUCTED FOR TAFT.

Delegation From North Dakota to Chicago Convention.

Minot, N. D., May 15.—Eight delegates to the Republican national convention instructed to vote for Taft and proposed by the "stalwart" wing of the Republican party were elected in the state convention here. The convention was a complete victory for Alexander McKenzie and his friends, who controlled on the first vote, which was on the insurgent candidate for national committeeman, by a vote of 260 to 182.

The delegates elected are as follows: R. H. Johnson, Dickinson; L. C. Pettibone, Dawson; C. R. Meredith, Cass; A. Landager, Ransom; Vic Rose, Ward; Jud Lamoure, Bottineau; C. J. Lord, Cando; C. A. Stebbin, McHenry. The presidential electors are Olaf Hagen, Ramsey; Herman Scheer, Wells; Ed Nichols, Morton; Anton Hanson, Benson.

The resolutions indorse President Roosevelt in emphatic terms; hail Taft as the next president of the United States; advocate tariff revision by the Republicans and not by the Democrats; condemn Governor Burke "for his failure to carry out his pledges by using his influence to secure the raising of the assessed valuation of the railroad properties of the state; advocate government control of public service corporations, and praise Republican state and national public officials.

PURSUED BY BLOODHOUNDS

Three Bandits in Flight With a Fortune in Loot.

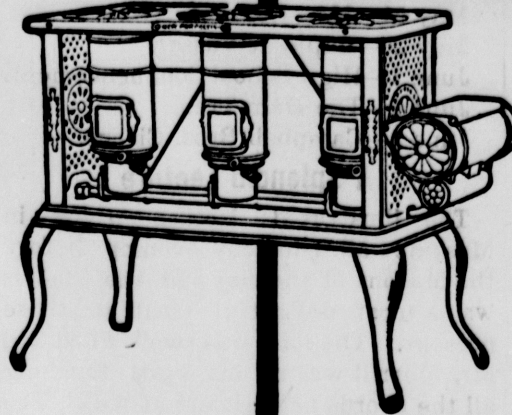

El Paso, Tex., May 15.—Pursued by men and bloodhounds, three bandits with $35,000 of loot in their possession are fleeing through the rugged mountain passes north of French, a little station eighty miles from East Las Vegas, N. M., on the Santa Fe railroad, in an effort to escape the clutches of the law.

At French they broke down the doors of the depot, bound and gagged the station agent and special guard, flew open the safe, took the money and rode away, leaving their victims helpless.

Amount of Bandits' Loot.

Seattle, Wash., May 15.—It is officially stated that $5,340 represents the loss to the Great Northern Express company in the robbery of the company's strong box by two bandits in the Great Northern tunnel Tuesday

PORTIONS OF JAWBONES.

Found in the Cellar of the Guinness Farmhouse.

Laporte, Ind., May 15.—Portions of human jawbones and pieces of skin on which traces of hair are apparent and which may prove to be a part of a human scalp, were found in the cellar of the Guinness farmhouse. With one accord, the prosecuting officers of the county declare that these relics are the most valuable to their case that have yet been discovered. Ever Ralph N. Smith, the prosecuting attorney, broke silence on this occasion exclaiming after viewing the bones: "Well, this case is certainly getting stronger."

The bones were found by the men who have been sifting the ashes in the cellar of the house, under the direction of Sheriff Snitzer.

The day's findings also included several charred vertebrae. The value of these exhibits is doubtful, however, as one of them possesses a process which is not to be found in a human spinal column and the others are too badly charred to make identification positive.

Two watches were discovered in the screenings, the total of these relics now being ten pieces.

Son—Pa, why does Mr. Ring say his head is as clear as a bell?
